

- * basement windows with flared brick lintel
- * first floor windows with stone sill and flared brick lintel mimicking stone
- * second floor windows without sill or lintel
- * third floor windows with stone sill, transom window, and stone band under transom
- * fourth floor windows with stone sill
- * small attic windows
- * brick relief geometric detailing between 2nd + 3rd floor and 3rd + 4th floor windows
- * pilastered brick columns
- * inscribed cornerstone
- * stone details and brackets
- * north carved pediment and panels
- * north balconies
- * entryway with columns, stone details, double doors with transom and side lights, green glass detailing
- * south and west windows with segmental brick arches and stone sills

Why do you think this property merits designation? Check appropriate item(s):

☒ X Architecture ☐ Persons ☐ Event(s) ☒ X Prominent Landmark

☒ X Historical ☐ Unusual Use ☐ Other _____

Is owner aware of this application? ☐ Yes ☐ No

Does owner consent to this designation? ☐ Yes ☐ No ☐ Don't know

Legal Description:

Quincy Proper (Original Town)
Block 22
Lot 1

Bibliography:

"The Corner Stone Laid," Quincy Whig. July 21, 1910.

"Corner Stone will be Laid," Quincy Whig. July 20, 1910.

History and Facts about the Temple. The Quincy Masonic Temple Association.

Landrum, Carl. "A brief Masonic history," Quincy Herald-Whig.

Landrum, Carl. "Long history of local Freemasonry," Quincy Herald-Whig. March 14, 1971.

"Masonic Temple," Public Buildings File. Gardner Museum of Architecture and Design.