

HERALD-WHIG LIVING

Page 1C
Sunday, March 16, 2003

House ffers erfect fit

A Dutch Colonial Revival
house at 2800 Maine
that Jon and Judy
were looking for

H-W Photo/Philip Carlson

Above: A look at the dining room in Jon and Judy Meade's house at 2800 Maine. Below left: The living room is a popular place in the house. Below right: The Gambrel roof and shed dormer distinguish the house as Dutch Colonial Revival.

of the Dutch Colonial Revival house was perfect, as far as Jon and Judy concerned.

the kitchen. They stored hay or food in the attic. The original homes did not have Gambrel roofs and flared in the back. They took off their shoes and there were always shoes lined up there.