Old Friends, Older House

A chance to get reacquainted for two Quincy couples leads

Larry and Marva Bartels and Bo and Julie Ervin were attending a birthday party last fall at Tangerine Bowl.

It offered an opportunity for the old friends to get reacquainted — and make a real estate deal at the same time.

The Bartels had recently returned to Quincy and were looking for a house. They wanted to live in an older house that was already restored.
