

The following exterior features of the William B. & Mary Bull House 222 South 16th Street are protected by City Ordinance No. 9247, Approved October 29, 2013:

- (1) Two-and-a-half story Shingle style house with limestone foundation, red brick first story, and wood shingle siding on the second story and attic gables.
 - (2) Coved stretcher brick forming a string course around the base of the brick facades, and a filleted brick course located above at the height of the limestone window sills.
 - (3) Shingles arranged in a wave pattern in the front porch gable and in the area above the Palladian window on the east gable.
 - (4) All original windows, most of which are multi-paned, double-hung units.
 - (5) Imposing hipped roof with cross gables.
 - (6) Front (east) gable with second story porch below.
 - (7) Large Palladian window with radiating straight and curved muntins in the arched sash.
 - (8) Porch under the gable with engaged arch, brackets and Queen Anne-style columns.
 - (9) Two-story bay windows with porches above them, centered under the north and south cross gables.
 - (10) The north bay window in polygonal form.
 - (11) The south bay window in semicircular form.
 - (12) Each porch has a balustrade with wooden square balusters.
 - (13) Attic dormers with arched roofs—one facing north and one facing south.
 - (14) Downspouts decorated with serpentine “x” appliqués in many locations.
- (15) Front porch wrapping to the north and south facades and around an engaged domed tower with octagonal faces.
 - (16) Single and paired Queen Anne columns resting on limestone-capped brick plinths with coved brick ledges.
 - (17) Vaulted porch ceiling clad with stained beaded board.
 - (18) Balustrade with cast iron panels and broad limestone caps.
 - (19) Paneled oak front door with arched beveled-glass light.
 - (20) Four tall brick chimneys with vertical reveals, cross shaped at the bases, brickwork stepped back at the chimney tops, and decorative anchors in starburst and serpentine “x” shapes.
 - (21) Stylistically sympathetic porte-cochere on south side of house.
