Biography Briefly Told.

Dr. Christie was born in Winchester, Va., June 17, 1831, and was the oldest of nine children, four of whom survive him. They are: John F. Christie, Mrs. Virginia Hall and Mrs. Emma Burnett, all of whom reside at Lewistown, Mo., and Mrs. Helen La Rue, of Malaga, Cal. David Christie, one of the brothers, died in 1905. At the close of the war the deceased moved from his Virginia home to La Grange, Mo., where he lived a short time, going thence to Monticello, Mo., and from there to Pueblo, Colo., coming to Quincy in the year 1886, from which date he always enjoyed a big practice. At one time he was dean of the Quincy College of Medicine and at another was chief surgeon of Blessing hospital, and not a few of the doctors practicing in the city at the present time were students under him.

Seven children were born to Dr. Christie and wife, six of whom survive him. They are: Two sons, Cassius W., of Lewistown, Mo., Dr. R. J. Christie, of this city, and four daughters, Mrs. M. E. Cotton, Mrs. E. L. Graves, Mrs. Hervey A. Fry and Miss Laura Christie.

Last night at a late hour the funeral arrangements had not been made, but the interment, it is expected, will be in charge of the Masons, of which order he was a prominent member for years.

Miss Christiana Sirrell, of Chicago, is in the city to remain as the guest of Miss Katherine Jenkins, who is in charge of the news stand at the Burlington depot, for several days.

This did not coincide, evidently, with Lena's views, so after she had drawn her last week's wages she proceeded to take the first train out of town, without leaving word as to where she was going. It was suspected that she would be found in Quincy, so her brother Robert followed her. As the child had spent most of her money for food and lodging while in the city, and had invested the few pennies she had left in buying peanuts for the squirrels, she did not interpose any objections to journey back to dear old Louisiana when she spied her brother looking for her in the park.

TO BE BURIED AT EWING, MO.

Funeral of Thomas J. Helms to be Held There Today.

Thomas J. Helms, who dropped dead in front of the Planters' hotel at 6 o'clock Monday evening, will be buried today at Ewing, Mo., his late home. Uriah Helms, a brother, arrived yesterday from Monticello, Mo., and made arrangements to have the body taken there. The services at Ewing are to be in charge of Rev. Howerton, pastor of the M. E. church there, in which temple of worship the services will be held.

The news of the sudden death of his brother came as a great shock to the brother Uriah, who left last evening for Ewing to be present at the services. He said that the old gentleman was in fairly good health when he left Ewing Monday morning and no one knew that he was suffering from any ailment which might result in his being suddenly summoned. He was 75 years of age and until recently had been a farmer and auctioneer, retiring a year or two ago. His wife died some eight years ago, since which time he had lived with relatives.

At 10:35 o'clock yesterday morning Dr. Robert James Christie died at his late home, 1407 Vermont street, after having been confined there for the past several months. The cause of his death is directly attributable to gall stones.

For the past few weeks he was an acute sufferer from the malady, but bore the excruciating pain with fortitude and bravery, retaining his consciousness until within a few hours of the time his spirit passed beyond the Great Divide. Members of his family and other relatives were in constant attendance at his bedside and everything known to medical science was done to save his life, but several days ago it became obvious that the end was near. Though his death was expected, it did not lessen the poignancy of the blow and members of the family and his hosts of friends, many of whom have had occasion to bless the exceptional ability with which he ministered unto unto their ailments, are grief-stricken.

FOUND IN THE PARK

Had Spent All Her Money and Was Glad to See Brother.

Lena Dickson, a 12-year-old miss with an inclination to see the world, ran away from her home in Louisiana, Mo., yesterday, Quincy being her destination. Her brother Robert came here yesterday in search of her and found her sitting on one of the benches in Washington park. She was willing to return home with him, so they departed during the afternoon.

Lena does not have the appearance of being a bad girl, although it was clearly evident that she is headstrong. In spite of her age she has been permitted to go out and work in the button factory at home, where she made as much as five dollars a week when she was permitted to work six consecutive days. Her mother did not want her to get in the habit of running at large, so told her it would be well to spend her evenings under the parental roof, as she was too young to be given the liberties of grown-up girls, even if she was doing the work of a full-fledged woman. This did not coincide, evidently, with Lena's views, so after she had drawn her last week's wages she proceeded to take the first train out of town, without leaving word as to where she was going. railroads of the west and south west. There is a constant increase in manufacturing industries, and a great deal of shifting from one district to another. To establish negotiations with the various parties dealing with and with the communities that are able to furnish them, the arrangement of track facilities, negotiations for procuring the necessary land, and the many details with reference to the freight rate situation, all require a man of many resources and great information.

Mr. Knight combines all these qualities, knowing every mile of the Wabash road and thoroughly understanding the needs and requirements of each district and being a past master in the freight rate situation. His long and faithful service entitle him to this substantial recognition.

In his new position Mr. Knight could render valuable service to Quincy. In his present and former positions, Mr. Knight has been in position to assist Quincy but failed to do so.

It will, no doubt, surprise the Star readers to learn that the La Belle Coal Co. has surrendered its charter and will go out of business. That there is plenty of coal in this field is well known, but as the members of the company are all inexperienced in the mining business, it was decided to step down and out and let some experienced men take up the work and develop the mines.
