As a history professor, Kyle Day had plenty of professional reasons to choose the 1892 home at 1248 Park Place.

But he was motivated by the most persuasive of all: His wife, Rena, "fell in love with the place at first sight." In fact, Rena says, "From the first time I saw it, I wanted it so much I couldn't sleep at night."

A year of ownership has only added to that affection and has confirmed the practical wisdom of their decision.

The spacious Queen Anne has provided a
